

bon appétit

13 Father's Day Gifts That Aren't Ties

June 6, 2016
Christine Muhlke

Dads might seem like they don't really care if you get them something nice on Father's Day (though we loved it when Andrew Knowlton asked for $293 pajamas—and are sure his family did, too), but really, don't bungle it. Who else is going to help pay for your healthcare between jobs, move you into yet another apartment, or grill you the world's most well-done steak every time? Respect.

There are two mug routes to take. This year, camping mugs are all the rage, even among those who'll never see the inside of a tent. We like these year-rounders from Verve.