Call for Nominations

SCI is continuing to focus on our renewed sense of purpose, as a multi-science and multi-disciplinary society, serving the diverse sectors in the modern chemistry-using industry.

Our charitable objective is to work at the interface between science and industry, supporting and promoting innovation into industry for the benefit of society.

To achieve this, SCI needs the support and involvement of its active and dedicated members. If you feel you have relevant experience, a passion for promoting scientific innovation, and would be willing to help SCI build its future in the space where science meets business – please do, consider standing for election. The Board of Trustees is keen to ensure diversity of representation across gender, race and age.
