Software defined connectivity for the home office

To maximise home working productivity, you need to think differently

The majority of employees connect to their office over tried and tested VPN services, but with digital transformation moving us to the cloud, it's time for the next generation of connectivity to come to the forefront.

Business Grade Service at the Home

- Secure Internet Access – protect all connected devices from the latest malware and ransomware.
- Optimise Applications – real-time performance monitoring and tuning of SaaS, cloud, and on-premise applications.
- In-built Resilient Access – high availability and performance, with optional 4G back up.
- Plug and Play – zero touch provisioning simplifies the end user enablement.

The Secure Homeworker Toolkit

SoHo Connect is part of the Secure Homeworker portfolio and forms the core building blocks of the overall service. Easy to deploy over existing home broadband services, it transforms the remote worker into a home office, boosting productivity, security, and management.

Enable SoHo Connect

- Choose from Standard 20Mb or Enhanced 50Mb with 4G resilient access.
- Pick your overlay 'Home Office' and the 'Secure Cloud' services you require.
- We ship the pre-configured device to you.
- Connect your new SoHo Connect device to existing home broadband.
- Service activates automatically, just connect to the WiFi or ethernet port.
- Add and remove services as required with our simple monthly subscription model

Designed for the way you work

Our toolkit is designed to support a wide range of business functions in a single package.

Improve security for Finance and Legal teams, enable Customer Services to be more engaged, boost collaboration service quality, and protect core business application performance for all end users.

With Secure Cloud access, you can connect to public cloud, IaaS, and SaaS services as though they are on-net, with improved visibility and control.

Flexible subscription licensing means goodbye to lengthy contracts and provides the agility for your business to adapt to changing circumstances.

Maintel combines multi-cloud SD-WAN technology and powerful cyber security to deliver a true office at home experience that will transform the way you work.
