

Statement of the Faculty of Mathematics and Computer Science concerning the suspension of classroom activities

March 12, 2020

As a consequence of the temporary suspension of classroom activities from March 13 at Universitat de Barcelona, and in order to guarantee the continuation of all course programs, the Faculty announces the following agreements and recommendations:

- Lecturers and students are requested to use the tools available on Campus Virtual UB for online implementation of teaching resources. Additional exchange of information or queries can be made by e-mail if pertinent.
- The exams scheduled for the week March 30 to April 3 are cancelled. Continued assessment tests may be organized by the lecturers when classroom activity resumes. Such tests will take place during normal course hours and will be announced enough in advance to the students and to the Head of Studies of the corresponding degree or master's.
- Substantial changes in the Teaching Plan will need the approval of the Head of Studies and the Head of the Department.
- Tutoring of final degree theses, final master's theses or doctoral theses should be organized so that no personal meetings are required during this period.
- Internships should follow the instructions of the corresponding companies or institutions. In case that substantial changes are needed in the working plan, an annex will be added to the current agreement.
