Government
and Philanthropic Support for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual,
Transgender, and Intersex Communities

The 2015-2016 Global Resources Report analyzes data from:

Over the two-year period of 2015 and 2016, institutional funding for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex issues totaled more than $524 million.

GLOBAL LGBTI FUNDING, BY YEAR ¹

ONE COIN = $1 MILLION

During the same period, foundations awarded a total of $242.8 billion while governments and multilateral agencies awarded $274.2 billion. As such, for every $100 awarded by foundations, only 17 cents specifically benefited LGBTI communities. For every $100 awarded by government and multilateral agencies, only 4 cents specifically benefited LGBTI communities.

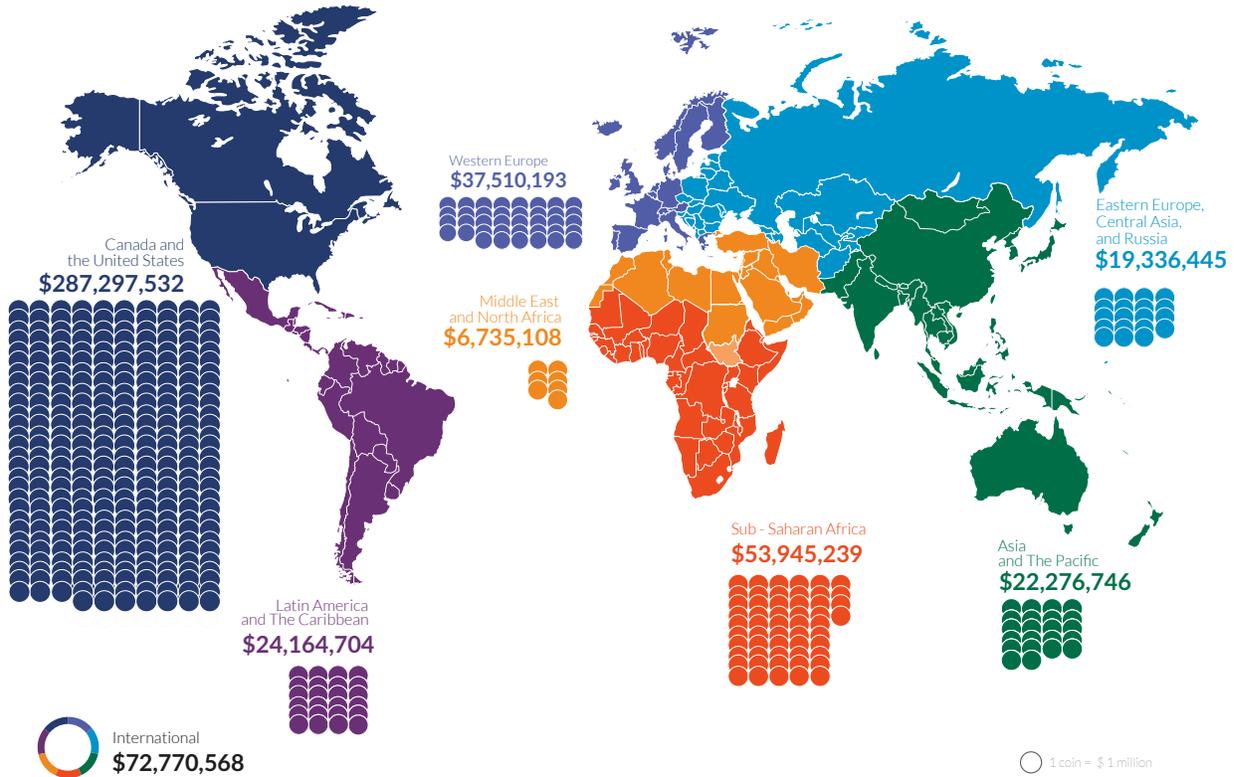

LGBTI FUNDING COMPARED TO OVERALL FUNDING

¹ Data were not available for all four years from the U.S. Government and the Global Equality Fund, two of the largest funders of LGBTI Issues. The chart above shows the total LGBTI funding both including and excluding these funders so as to provide the most accurate picture possible of the trend line.

Moreover, no region outside of Canada and the United States received more than $55 million over the two-year period of 2015-2016.

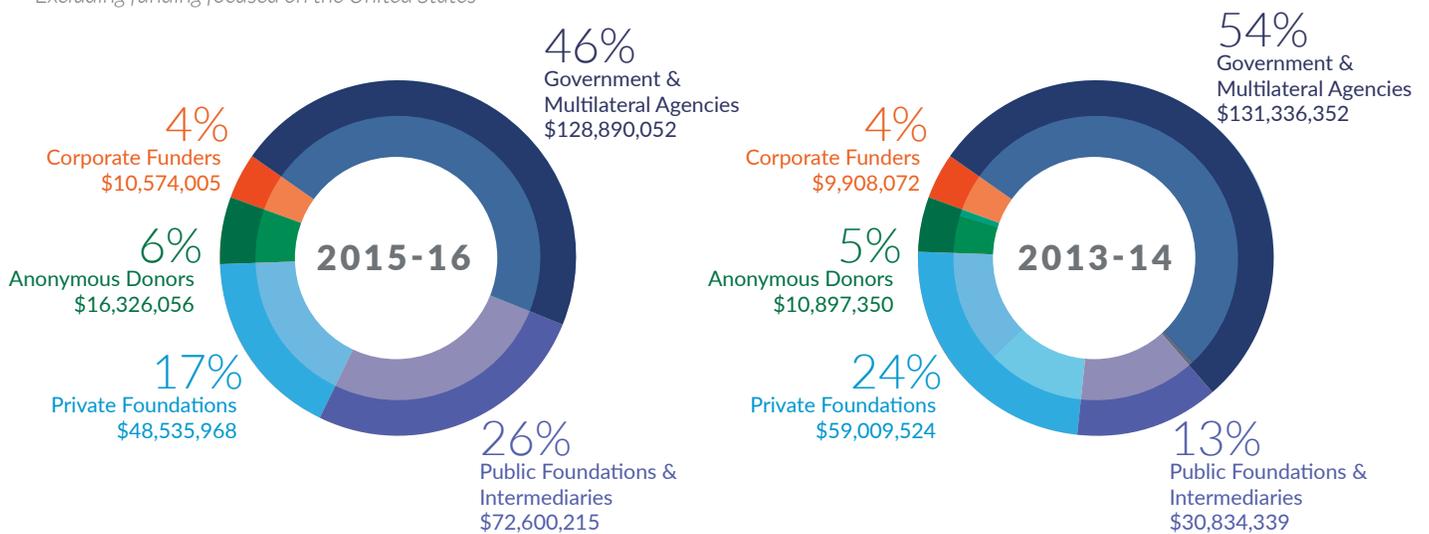

MAP OF LGBTI FUNDING, BY REGIONAL FOCUS (2015-2016)

Excluding funding for the United States, the largest share of funding came from government and multilateral agencies, and the highest funded issue was human rights.

Introduction

We are pleased to present the The 2015-2016 Global Resources Report: Philanthropic & Government Support for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Intersex Communities, a comprehensive report on the state of foundation and government funding for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) issues. This report captures data on 12,964 grants awarded by 511 foundations, intermediaries, and corporations and by 15 government and multilateral agencies over the two-year period of 2015-2016. It provides detailed data on the distribution of LGBTI funding by geography, issue, strategy, and population focus, offering a tool for identifying trends, gaps, and opportunities in the rapidly changing landscape of LGBTI funding.

The 2015-2016 Global Resources Report builds upon the first edition of the Global Resources Report, which was released two years ago and focused on grantmaking in calendar years 2013-2014. With this second volume, we now have comprehensive data on four calendar years of grantmaking, allowing us to conduct a deeper analysis of the trendlines for LGBTI funding over time. In several sections of this report, we offer not only a snapshot of funding for 2015-2016, but also an analysis of how funding has shifted over a four-year period.

This second report is the fruit of the continuing collaboration between our two networks, Funders for LGBTQ Issues and the Global Philanthropy Project (GPP). By collaborating throughout every phase of the research, we have been able to draw upon the unique competencies and assets of both networks. The members of the Global Philanthropy Project were instrumental in reaching a wide set of funders and, in particular, in capturing the leading government funders of LGBTI issues. The expertise of GPP's global membership also helped to assure that the report reflected the interests and needs of a wide variety of funders. Funders for LGBTQ Issues contributed its strong capacities in research and communications, including more than a decade of experience producing the comprehensive annual Tracking Report on LGBTI funding in the U.S., as well as an aptitude for capturing complex data in understandable and visually compelling ways.

Note that while the Global Resources Report series is the most comprehensive resource available on LGBTI funding around the world, it still has gaps. In particular, while we have captured information about the majority of funders that award large amounts of funding for LGBTI issues, we know there are some that we missed, including several notable funders unable to submit data for the report for a variety of reasons. We are pleased that this second edition includes over 50 more funders than the first edition, and we hope to be able to include an even larger set of funders in future research.

Most importantly, we hope that this report will be a valuable tool for both donors and movement leaders seeking to advance LGBTI rights and improve the wellbeing of LGBTI communities around the world. By better understanding the current scale and scope of LGBTI funding, we can better respond to gaps, advocate for more resources, adapt our goals, and increase our impact.

Sincerely,

Matthew Hart

Methodology

The 2015-2016 Global Resource Report analyzes grant-level data for grants awarded in 2015 and 2016 to support lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex issues. This section provides an overview of the methodology used to document the complex global funding landscape for LGBTI issues today.

DEFINING AN “LGBTI GRANT”

This report collects and analyzes data on grantmaking that specifically focuses on LGBTI issues. Generally, this includes two sets of grants: (1) grants awarded to organizations that primarily focus on serving or advocating for LGBTI communities; and (2) grants awarded to organizations that serve a larger audience, but for a project that specifically focuses on LGBTI communities.

The data do not include grants to organizations or projects that are generally inclusive of LGBTI people, unless they explicitly address an LGBTI issue or population. For example, a human rights organization receiving a grant to provide asylum services to marginalized refugees, open and welcoming of all refugees, including LGBTI people, would not have been included in the data. If that same human rights organization received a grant to provide asylum services specifically supporting LGBTI refugees, it would have been included.

While both LGBTI-focused and LGBTI-inclusive grants can have a significant impact on LGBTI communities, the former category is distinct in that such grants by definition work to proactively address the unique challenges, disparities, and rights abuses faced by LGBTI communities. It is also more practical and feasible to attain a fairly consistent and comprehensive picture of LGBTI-focused grants, while a dataset of LGBTI-inclusive grants could misleadingly inflate the level of support for LGBTI communities and be difficult to map with consistency.

SOURCES OF DATA

The Global Resources Report surveyed the grantmaking of over 1,000 philanthropic entities and more than a dozen donor governments in an effort to provide a comprehensive snapshot of global LGBTI funding in the two-year period from 2015-2016.

Information was obtained predominantly through self-reporting, with participating foundations, agencies, and organizations providing data on all LGBTI-related grants directly to Funders for LGBTQ Issues. When possible, funders provided information on the grantee, grant amount, and grant description for each individual grant.

These data submissions were supplemented by a review of official disclosure documents (such as tax return forms 990 for U.S.-based foundations and nonprofit institutions), annual reports, and online grants databases. All government and multilateral grantmaking was self-reported.

QUALITY CONTROL AND CODING

Once received, grants were reviewed by the research team for consistency and accuracy. In order to maximize consistency and overall quality of data, some grants were eliminated from the dataset if they fell outside the research parameters—for example, if a grant was awarded outside the two-year period of 2015-2016 or if it did not have an explicit LGBTI focus. In some cases where it was difficult to determine whether a grant fell within research parameters for the report, additional information was requested from the submitting funder.

Once received and reviewed, grants were then coded by the research team, drawing on information provided both about the grantee and the grant description. In both quality control and coding, the overarching goal was to assure consistency of data.

TYPES OF FUNDERS

All types of philanthropic entities were surveyed, including:

- Anonymous funders, which, for the purposes of this report, includes foundations and funds that seek to maintain the anonymity of their giving.
- Corporate foundations and grantmaking programs at for-profit organizations.
- Governments, many of which award grants through a range of agencies.
- Intermediaries, which are set up to collect funds from other funders and re-grant those funds to civil society organizations and grassroots groups.
- Nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), which are civil society organizations operating a range of programs, including some that manage grantmaking programs and initiatives.
- Multilateral agencies, which are organizations formed by three or more countries for the purpose of joint funding or other types of cooperation.
- Private foundations, which are typically endowed foundations originally established by a family or an individual donor.
- Public foundations, which are set up to raise funds from the general public and award grants.

Data from individual donors was not collected, unless their funding was awarded through an institutional entity, such as a private foundation or a donor-advised fund housed at a public foundation. For the purposes of this report, government and multilateral agencies are reported in a single category, as are intermediaries, NGOs, and public foundations. Government funding captured in this report focuses on international aid to advance LGBTI rights and for the most part does not capture donor governments' domestic funding.

GRANT AWARDS AND DISBURSEMENTS

This report provides data on grant awards as opposed to grant disbursements. For multi-year commitments, the sum of the grant is counted in the year in which it was awarded. For example, a two-year grant for $100,000 awarded in 2015 would be credited as a $100,000 grant in 2015 as opposed to a $50,000 grant in 2015 and then another $50,000 grant in 2016.

CURRENCIES

All figures are reported in U.S. dollars. When data was provided in another currency, grant amounts were converted to U.S. dollars based on the conversion rate at the midpoint of the year in which the grant was awarded.

RE-GRANTING

Due to the complex network of funding structures and the relationship of donors, intermediaries, governments, and multilaterals, this report tracks funds awarded for the purposes of re-granting and eliminates double-counting where appropriate. Specifically, when we receive information regarding (1) a grant awarded to an intermediary for re-granting, and (2) the grants ultimately awarded by the intermediary, then only the latter set of grants are included in most tabulations and charts. The exception is that we have included all re-granting dollars in all top funder lists as well as in the appendix to accurately show the overall level of LGBTQ funding provided by each grantmaker, regardless of whether those dollars are provided in the form of direct grants or through an intermediary that then re-grants those dollars to other organizations and individuals. As a result, the top funder charts in this report do “double-count” re-granting when aggregated.

NOTE: This report methodology was devised in close collaboration with the 2015-2016 Global Resources Report Advisory Committee. For a full list of committee members please see the acknowledgements page at the end of the report.

The Big Picture

Overview of Global LGBTI Funding

SCOPE AND CONTEXT OF REPORT

This report provides an overview of institutional funding for LGBTI issues around the world. It captures data on funding from foundations, intermediaries, corporations, government agencies, and multilateral agencies, but does not include individual donors. It covers funding provided by these institutions in calendar years 2015 and 2016 for LGBTI-focused organizations and for projects that specifically focus on LGBTI communities. Notably, the 2015-2016 edition of the Global Resources Report includes a 35% increase in reported grants, from 9,632 in 2013-2014 to 12,964 in 2015-2016. For a complete description of the data collection and research methods used to compile this report please see the Methodology section on page 6.

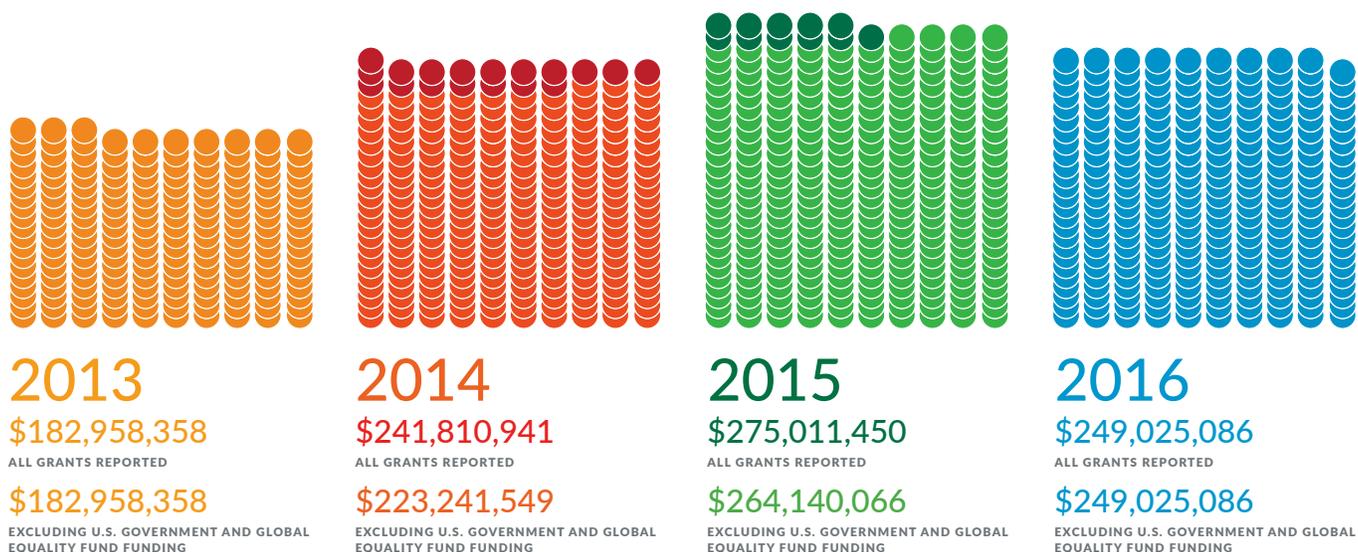

TOTAL FUNDING

In the two-year period of 2015-2016, institutional funding for LGBTI issues globally totaled approximately $524 million.² Over these two years, a total of 511 foundations and 15 government and multilateral agencies awarded more than 12,964 grants for LGBTI issues around the world.

Of the $524 million total, approximately $275 million was awarded in 2015 and $249 million was awarded in 2016. Drawing on the data in this report, as well as the first edition covering calendar years 2013 and 2014, we now have four years of data on global LGBTI funding. Between the 2013-2014 reporting period and the 2015-2016 reporting period, global LGBTI funding grew by $100 million, or 23 percent.

GLOBAL LGBTI FUNDING, BY YEAR

ONE COIN = $1 MILLION

² Throughout the report, all monetary figures are provided in United States dollars.

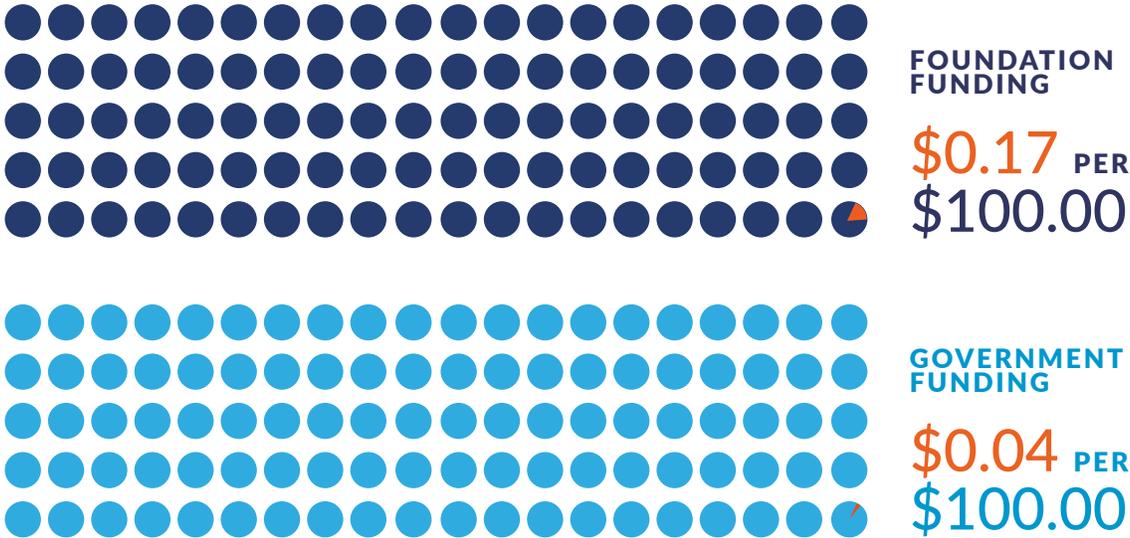

These year-to-year fluctuations in funding are driven in part by the data available. In particular, over the course of both the 2013-2014 and 2015-2016 reports, the U.S. Government, one of the top funders of LGBTQ issues, has only provided data on its LGBTIQ issues, calendar year 2014. In that year, the U.S. Government provided more than $15 million in LGBTIQ funding, including nearly $4 million awarded through the Global Equality Fund it administers. This incomplete data reporting from the U.S. Government contributes to the sharp spike in LGBTIQ funding reported for 2014. In order to provide as accurate a picture as possible of the overall trajectory of global LGBTIQ funding, the chart above shows the trendline of total LGBTIQ funding both including and excluding 2014 funding reported by the U.S. Government.

Despite the recent growth of LGBTIQ funding, it remains small and has not grown in proportion to overall foundation funding and international aid. Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, North American and European foundations awarded a total of $242.8 billion. During that same period, this report finds that foundations awarded $421.2 million specifically for LGBTIQ issues. In other words, for every $100 that foundations gave only about 17 cents explicitly focused on LGBTIQ communities.³

According to the Organization for Economic and Co-Operation and Development (OECD), international development assistance funding totaled nearly $131.6 billion in 2015 and more than $142.6 billion in 2016, for a combined total of $274.2 billion. For the same two-year period, this report finds that government and multilateral agencies awarded about $102.7 million specifically for LGBTIQ issues. In other words, for every $100 of international aid and assistance, less than four cents explicitly focused on LGBTIQ issues.

LGBTIQ FUNDING COMPARED TO OVERALL FUNDING

³ Figures for foundation funding in the United States are drawn from the Giving USA 2016: The Annual Report on Philanthropy for the Year 2015 and Giving USA 2017: The Annual Report on Philanthropy for the Year 2016, both available at givingusa.org. Figures for European foundation giving are drawn from Donors and Foundations Networks in Europe's (DAFNE) 2015 and 2016 European Foundation Sector Reports, available at dafne-online.eu.

Overview of Funding, by Geographic Focus

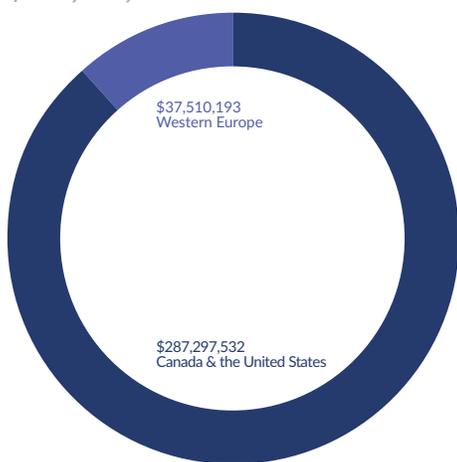

This report covers LGBTI funding for work in seven regions of the world⁴ and for work at the international level. In addition to the general overview section, the report has three sections providing greater depth of detail on funding for three distinct geographic scopes:

- 1. Funding for LGBTI Issues in the Global South and East: This section provides an analysis of funding for five world regions: (1) Asia and The Pacific; (2) Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; (3) Latin America and the Caribbean; (4) Middle East and North Africa; and (5) Sub-Saharan Africa.
- 2. Funding for LGBTI Issues in the Global North: This section provides an analysis of funding for two major world regions: (1) the United States and Canada and (2) Western Europe.
- 3. Funding for International LGBTI Issues: This section provides an analysis of funding focused on LGBTI issues at the international level, such as advocacy for the inclusion of LGBTI issues in international bodies and instruments, or work to strengthen the capacity of LGBTI movements across multiple regions of the world.

During 2015 and 2016, about $126 million, or 24 percent of all funding for LGBTI issues, was focused on serving or advocating for LGBTI communities in the Global South and East. This total includes $54 million for Sub-Saharan Africa; $24 million for Latin America and the Caribbean; $22.2 million for Asia and the Pacific; $19.3 million for Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; and $6.7 million for Middle East and North Africa.

LGBTQ FUNDING, BY GEOGRAPHIC FOCUS AND REGION (2013-2016)

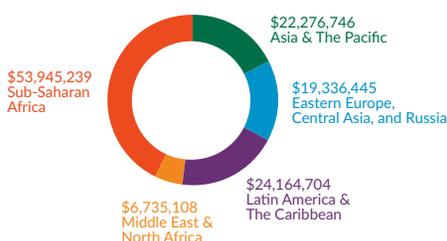

GLOBAL NORTH 2015-16
$324,807,725

GLOBAL NORTH 2013-14

GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST 2015-16
$126,458,242

GLOBAL SOUTH AND EAST 2013-14

⁴ The grouping of countries into regions and sub-regions was based on a review of several similar taxonomies, including that of the United Nations and other international bodies, as well as existing philanthropic research such as that of Foundation Center and Human Rights Funders Network. The overarching goal was to provide groupings that reflect the ways that donors and movement leaders see themselves and are building networks at the regional level.

LGBTQ FUNDING, BY GEOGRAPHIC FOCUS AND REGION (2013-2016)

Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; and $6.7 million for the Middle East and North Africa. Despite the overall growth in global LGBTI funding, compared to the last reporting period, funding for the Global South and East fell by $2.3 million. Specifically, there were notable decreases in funding for Asia and the Pacific and for Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia. Latin America and Sub-Saharan Africa saw increases in funding, while funding for the Middle East and North Africa maintained at the same levels.

In the same period, about $325 million, or 62 percent of all funding for LGBTI issues, was focused on serving or advocating for LGBTI communities in the Global North. The United States received $287 million—nearly all of it from foundations and corporations based in the US. Of the remainder, $38 million focused on LGBTI communities in Western Europe, and $1 million focused on Canada. Funding for the Global North increased by $84 million compared to the two-year period of 2013-2014, a 35-percent increase. About one-third of the increase ($29 million) was the result of philanthropic grants specifically devoted to survivors and families of the victims of the Pulse massacre in Orlando, Florida.

The remaining $72 million of funding focused on LGBTI issues at the international or global level. Much of this work was done by international advocacy organizations, such as ILGA, Council for Global Equality, OutRight Action International, and Human Rights Watch for work at the global level. Funding for work at the international level grew by $17.3 million compared to 2013-2014. This represents a 31-percent increase, the sharpest growth seen in any geographic category for this reporting period.

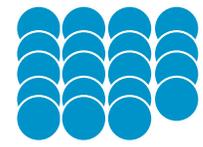

Nearly all of the organizations receiving funding for international LGBTI rights are located in the Global North, and some Global North organizations also receive funding to advance LGBTI rights in the Global South and East.

20	COC Netherlands — Amsterdam, The Netherlands	$4,922,371

NOTE: Anonymous donors awarded $48,033,706 during this period. If they appeared on the list above as a single funder, they would rank as the number one funder of LGBTI issues.

NOTE: In contrast to other calculations in this report, all lists of top funders include re-granting, so as to capture the full amount of LGBTI funding flowing from (or through) each funder.

Excluding funding focused on the United States, the top 10 foundation funders of LGBTI issues awarded $77 million, or 33 percent of the total. The top 20 foundation funders awarded $101.1 million, or 43 percent of LGBTI funding excluding that focused on the United States. When funding focused on the United States is excluded, the list of top 20 foundations is much more geographically diverse, with 11 funders based in the United States, eight based in Western Europe, and one based in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Government and Multilateral Agency Funding for LGBTI Issues

This report also tracks the LGBTI grantmaking of 15 governments and multilateral agencies. Collectively, they awarded $128.8 million. The top 10 government and multilateral agencies supporting LGBTI issues in the form of international aid awarded $112.3 million, accounting for nearly half of all LGBTI funding focused outside of the United States.

Please also note that for consistency this report presents all LGBTI funding originating from various departments and agencies within a country under one consolidated umbrella of their national government (e.g. Government of Norway instead of Norway Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Norway Agency for Development Cooperation, etc.). While some government funders submitted consolidated grants data for all their agencies, in some cases government agencies individually submit data on their LGBTI grants, which may result in an underrepresentation of those countries' overall LGBTI funding if the full range of relevant agencies did not participate. Applicable HIV/AIDS-related funding from governments and multilateral agencies was included in this report. While some of that funding was considered too broadly focused for inclusion, the report does include HIV funding targeting LGBTI and MSM communities. In particular, over $5 million of the World Bank's reported total funding was for HIV prevention programming targeting men who have sex with men (msm). If this funding were excluded, the World Bank would not appear on the list of top government and multilateral donors.

TOP 10 GOVERNMENT AND MULTILATERAL FUNDERS OF INTERNATIONAL AID FOR LGBTI ISSUES, BY TOTAL AMOUNT (2015-2016)

1	Government of The Netherlands – The Hague, The Netherlands	$37,827,995
2	Government of Sweden –Stockholm, Sweden	$29,368,113
3	Global Equality Fund – Washington, D.C., United States	$10,871,384
4	European Commission – Brussels, Belgium	$10,619,188
5	Government of Denmark – Copenhagen, Denmark	$6,202,053
6	World Bank – Washington, D.C., United States	$5,750,890
7	Government of Norway – Oslo, Norway	$4,682,786
8	EEA AND NORWAY GRANTS (Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway) – Oslo, Norway	$2,977,806
9	Government of Finland – Helsinki, Finland	$2,456,693
10	Government of Canada - Ottawa, Canada	$1,602,899

NOTE: Three governments reported domestic funding for LGBTI issues, in addition to the international aid presented in the table above. The Netherlands reported $3,250,421, Sweden reported $829,630, and Germany reported $9,814,693 in in-country funding. If the German Government's domestic grantmaking were included in the above table, it would appear as the third largest government or multilateral funder of LGBTI issues. This domestic grantmaking is included in the overall figures in the report, as well as in the Global North and Western Europe sections later in the report.

Top Recipients of LGBTI Funding

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, over 1,000 nongovernmental organizations, nonprofit agencies, and other civil society organizations received funding for LGBTI work focused outside of the United States. The top twenty grant recipients received nearly 36 percent of the funding. The list includes five organizations based in the Global South and East - one less than was featured on the list during the last reporting cycle.

As a reminder, the list below shows the total amount funders committed over the two-year period of 2015-2016, including the full amount of any multi-year grants awarded during those years. As such, recipients receiving grants awarded for a period of 3 years or more may have their totals listed below exceed their total two-year operating revenue. The list does exclude known re-granting .

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

What Funders Are Missing from This Report?

This edition of the Global Resources Report includes data on LGBTI grants awarded by 526 funding institutions, including foundations, intermediaries, corporations, government agencies, and multilateral agencies. However, as with any research effort, there are gaps in the data available and therefore reported in this edition of the Global Resources Report.

There are several funders that we know have awarded LGBTI grants, but whose data are not fully included in this report. Most of the grants data analyzed in this report are collected directly from the funders awarding the grant. In some cases, when we are unable to attain grants data directly from a funding entity, we attain it from other public documents, such as annual reports and online grants databases. In the case of U.S.-based private foundations and public charities, we also examine annual tax return documents, which are required to include a list of grants awarded. In cases where funders did not report data directly to us, and no other reliable public documentation of their grantmaking was available, we were unable to include their grants data in this report. This is most often the case with funding entities that are not required to release public documentation of their grantmaking, such as government agencies or corporations that award grants directly (rather than through an affiliated foundation).

In terms of the total grant amount, the most notable gap in this edition of the Global Resources Report is the lack of data from the U.S. Government and incomplete data on grants awarded through the Global Equality Fund. The Global Equality Fund is a pooled fund focused on advancing LGBTI rights around the world, housed at the U.S. Department of State. The fund receives contributions not only from the U.S. government, but also from several other government agencies in Europe and Latin America, as well as from private foundations and corporations. Over the four years of grants data captured in the first two editions of the Global Resources Report, the U.S. Government and the Global Equality Fund have only provided data for one year: 2014, which was included in the first edition of the report. In that year, the U.S. Government awarded $11.1 million in grants focused on LGBTI communities, plus an additional $7.6 million in funds raised and awarded through the Global Equality Fund. In addition, we have attained and included some data on grantmaking by the Global Equality Fund, based on the Fund's 2015 annual report, which was publicly released in June of 2016 and reported $10.9 million in grants awarded that year. Unfortunately, no similar report has been released for 2016, and so only one year of Global Equality Fund's grantmaking is included in this edition of the Global Resources Report.

If the U.S. Government has continued to provide LGBTI funding at a similar level in 2015-2016, and the Global Equality Fund continued to award grants at a similar level in 2016, then that would constitute approximately $29-34 million in missing grants data, or about six percent of the total grant amount reported on over the two-year period of the report. This gap is even more prominent in LGBTI funding for the Global South and East, which is where the majority of documented U.S. Government and Global Equality Funding have been devoted. With reported funding for the Global South and East totaling $126.5 million in 2015-2016, it is likely that adding the full amount of funding from the U.S. Government and the Global Equality Fund would increase that total by 15-20 percent.

Several other notable LGBTI funders are missing from this edition of the report. The Government of the United Kingdom, which reported $5.2 million in LGBTI grants for the first report, was unable to provide detailed data for the second edition. The United Nations Development Program, which receives funding for its LGBTI grantmaking, also is not included in this edition.

However, several government and multilateral agencies have contributed grants data to the report for the first time in this edition: the governments of Canada and Denmark reported on their grantmaking for the first time, as did the World Bank. Overall, this report includes 50 more funders than the first edition did, pointing to increasingly comprehensive and accurate documentation of global LGBTI funding data.

This report makes a number of comparisons to the data from the 2013-2014 report, so as to allow for an analysis of trend lines over the time. Generally, in presenting these trend lines, we include all data available from both reports. However, the case of the U.S. Government and the Global Equality Fund is unique, since the scale of grantmaking is so large in comparison to the total and since we only have data on a single year in the case of the U.S. and only two years in the case of the Global Equality Fund. Including these irregular data points creates a skewed picture of fluctuations in funding that are, in fact, only fluctuations in reported funding, not in the actual funds awarded that year. In order to present the most accurate and useful picture possible, where relevant, we have reported on grantmaking totals both including and excluding funding from the Global Equality Fund and the U.S. Government.

These challenges of analyzing incomplete data highlight the importance of consistent and transparent reporting, which we hope will continue to become the commonly held best practice in the field of LGBTI grantmaking.

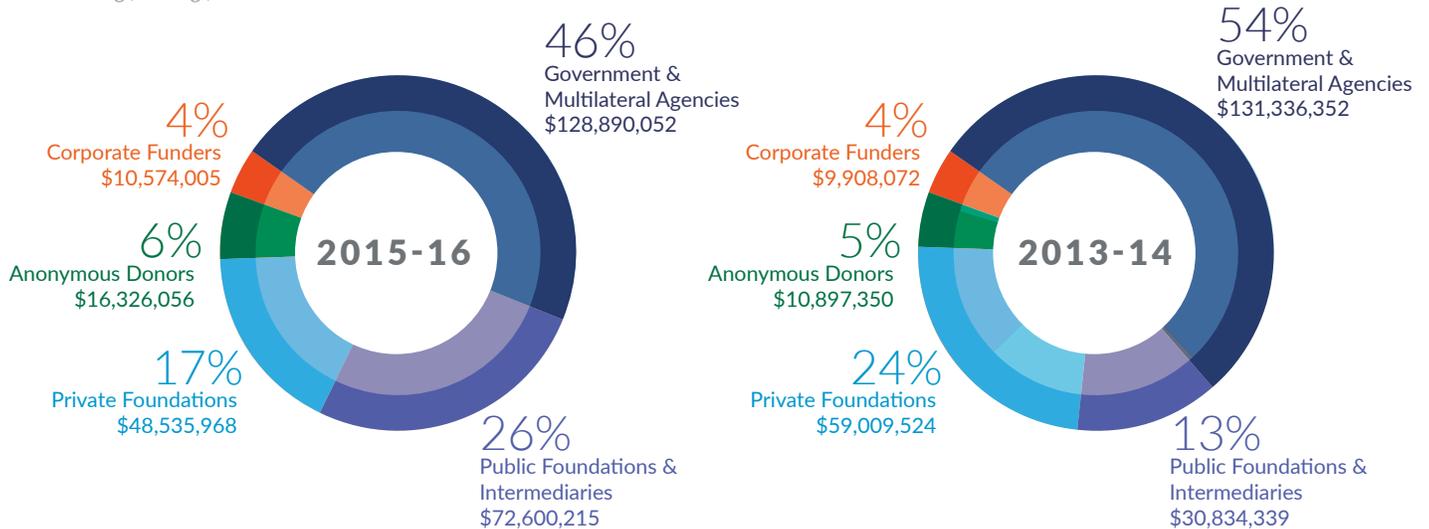

NOTE: While most reporting governments only shared data on international aid for LGBTI issues, three governments – Germany, The Netherlands, and Sweden - also reported in-country grantmaking for LGBTI issues. While this domestic funding was included in the overall calculations in this report, it was removed from the top government and multilateral donor list on page 17 and is addressed in notes throughout the report where relevant.

Sources of Global LGBTI Funding

Excluding funding for the United States, 44 percent of LGBTI funding came from governments and multilateral agencies. Public foundations and intermediaries awarded 26 percent, private foundations awarded 17 percent, and corporations awarded 4 percent of global LGBTI funding.

Type of Support

The majority of global LGBTI funding – 67 percent – was awarded in the form of program support. General operating support accounted for 26 percent of all global LGBTI funding, increasing from 20 percent in 2013-2014. Capacity-building support was the only other form of support to total more than 1 percent of funding, accounting for over $11 million in LGBTI funding outside the United States.

Issues Funded

Over the two-year period of 2015 and 2016, $238 million was awarded to LGBTI issues outside the United States. Human Rights was the highest funded issue area, receiving $135.3 million, or 57 percent, of this funding. Health and Wellbeing received over 50 million - of which 87 percent was for HIV/AIDS. Funding to Strengthen Community, Families and Visibility received over $16 million, or 7 percent of the total, while organizations working on Economic Issues, Education and Safe Schools Issues, and addressing Violence, Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia each received less than 5 percent of the total funding.

Ten percent of LGBTI funding was for Other Issues, largely because the details of these grants were not reported in order to maintain the anonymity and safety of the organizations receiving funding.

Strategies Funded

Over the two-year period of 2015 and 2016, $235.8 million was awarded to organizations advancing various strategies to serve and empower LGBTI communities outside the United States. Advocacy, Community Organizing, and Public Education was the top funded strategy, receiving $92 million, or 39 percent, of LGBTI funding outside the US. Funding for projects that used Multiple Strategies was the second highest funded strategy and received $61.8 million, or 26 percent, followed by funding for Capacity-Building and Training, which received $23 million or 10 percent of all funding. Grant recipients engaged in Direct Service received $20.3 million or 9 percent of global LGBTI funding, while grant recipients working to advance Philanthropy and Fundraising strategies received $18.8 million, or 8 percent. Grant recipients engaged in research received $13.5 million, or 6 percent, while projects that used Culture and Media in their work received $6.1 million, or 3 percent of all LGBTI funding.

Population Focus

The vast majority of grants – 75 percent or nearly $178 million – of the $238 million awarded to LGBTI issues outside the US did not focus on a specific LGBTI population. These grants were designated to serve “LGBTI people” broadly, either by the funder and/or grant recipient. This means, there is no accurate way to estimate how -or if- these grants reached specific populations within the LGBTI community or focused on their unique needs. This section examines funding for distinct sections of the LGBTI community and highlights funding that was explicitly focused on key LGBTI populations.

FUNDING BY SEXUAL ORIENTATION

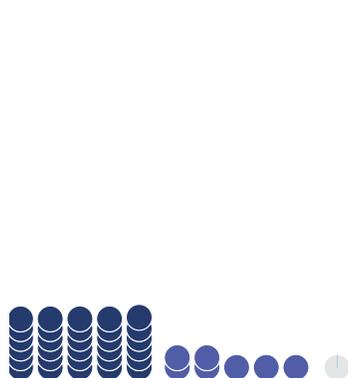

Over the two-year period of 2015 and 2016, funding specifically focused on the unique needs of Gay and Bisexual Men, Queer Men, and Men who Have Sex with Men (MSM) totaled $29.5 million, or 12 percent. Funding focused on Lesbian and Bisexual Women, and Queer Women totaled $7.2 million, or 3 percent of LGBTI funding. Projects focused on serving the specific needs of Bisexual communities received only $2,000.

Much of the population-focused funding by sexual orientation was highly concentrated on specific issues, strategies, or geographies. The majority of funding for Gay and Bisexual Men, Queer Men, and Men who Have Sex with Men (MSM) was devoted to HIV/AIDS, accounting for over 90 percent of funding to this community. While the majority of funding for Lesbians was for General Human Rights efforts, nearly 18 percent supported issues related to Sexual and Reproductive Rights and Justice.

Funding for LGBTI Issues in the Global South and East

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, 95 foundations, corporations, intermediaries, government donors and multilateral agencies awarded 2,319 grants totaling $126.4 million for LGBTI issues in the Global South and East. For the purposes of this report, the Global South and East is defined to encompass Asia and The Pacific; Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; Latin America and The Caribbean; Middle East and North Africa; and Sub-Saharan Africa. These regions include most of the world's lower-income and middle-income countries as well as a small number of higher-income countries.

Compared to the last reporting period, funding for LGBTI issues in the Global South and East fell by $2.3 million. Year to year, funding for LGBTI issues in the Global South and East has fluctuated considerably over the four years for which we have data, peaking in 2014 at $85 million, followed by declines in 2015 and 2016.

NOTE: Anonymous Grantees located in various locations received 944 grants totaling $34,574,190 during the two year period of 2015-2016.

Sources of LGBTI Funding for the Global South and East

During the two-year period of 2015-2016, the largest share (38 percent) of LGBTI funding for the Global South and East was awarded by public foundations and intermediaries. Significant shares of funding were also provided by government and multilateral agencies (37 percent) and private foundations (17 percent). Compared to the two-year period of 2013-2014, public foundations and intermediaries grew in both the amount of funding they provided as well as their share of the total. Private foundations and government and multilateral agencies decreased in their amount of funding for the Global South and East and their share of the total.

NOTE: Figures for 2013-2014 include $14,205,331 awarded for the Global South and East by the U.S. Government in 2014 and by the Global Equality Fund in 2014 and 2015, the only years for which these funding institutions have provided data for this report.

Issues Addressed by Funding for LGBTI Funding for the Global South and East

During the two-year period of 2015-2016, the largest share (50 percent) of LGBTI funding for the Global South and East was focused on advancing human rights—a similar level of funding as in 2013-2014, when human rights also captured a majority of funding. The second most-funded issue was health and wellbeing, which captured nearly one-third of funding for the Global South and East. The overwhelming majority of LGBTI health funding for the Global South and East was focused on HIV/AIDS, which saw a 50-percent increase compared to 2013-2014. Most other issue areas saw decreases compared to 2013-2014.

Population Focus of LGBTI Funding for the Global South and East

As with LGBTI funding overall, the vast majority of LGBTI funding for the Global South and East did not focus on any specific sub-population. Funding for several key populations in the Global South and East decreased in 2015-2016 compared to 2013-2014. In particular, funding for transgender communities decreased by more than $3 million, or 15 percent. Funding for migrants, refugees, and asylees also dropped notably, from $1.8 million to about $225,000. This two-year period saw increases for intersex communities and for sex workers.

LGBTI Funding for Latin America and the Caribbean, by Recipient Location

Approximately $6.4 million, or nearly one-quarter of funding for the region, was awarded to grantee organizations located outside Latin America and the Caribbean. These grant recipients were located in Canada, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United States.

LOCATION OF GRANTEES FUNDED FOR WORK IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC (2015-2016)

Issues Addressed by LGBTI Funding for Latin America and the Caribbean

Looking at LGBTI funding for Latin America and the Caribbean by issue addressed, Human Rights accounted for the majority of funding (49 percent), an increase of $3.7 million over 2013-2014. Health and Wellbeing was the second most well-funded issue, nearly doubling since 2013-2014 and garnering 20 percent of the total, the bulk of it devoted to HIV/AIDS treatment and prevention. Funding to address violence, homophobia, and transphobia in the region saw a notable decrease since 2013-2014, falling from $1.3 million to less than $100,000. Funding for strengthening communities, families, and visibility also decreased, falling from $1.2 million to less than $300,000.

NUMBER OF GRANTS	AVERAGE GRANT	MEDIAN GRANT	TOTAL FUNDING

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, 68 funders awarded $53.9 million to organizations and projects working on LGBTI issues in Sub-Saharan Africa. That represents 10 more funders and $10.5 million more in reported funding compared to the last reporting period.

A significant contributor to the growth in funding for Sub-Saharan Africa was a major increase in HIV/AIDS funding focused on LGBTI communities. Year to year, funding for the region grew in 2014 and 2015, and then declined in 2016. This overall trendline remains the same (with less dramatic fluctuation) even when the 2014 and 2015 data points from the U.S. and the Global Equality Fund are excluded.

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

Funding for Lesbian, Bisexual, and Queer (LBQ) Women

The 2015-2016 reporting period recorded $7.2 million in funding specifically targeting lesbian, bisexual, and queer (LBQ women), or only 3 percent of all funding for LGBTI issues in that two year period. This represents a decrease of 24 percent from the $9.5 million in 2013-2014, when funding specifically targeting LBQ women accounted for 5 percent of total funding for LGBTI issues.

Funding for LGBTI Issues in the Global North

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, foundations, corporations, intermediaries, government donors and multilateral agencies awarded $324,807,725 for LGBTI issues in the Global North - representing a nearly $85 million or 35 percent increase compared to the last reporting period.

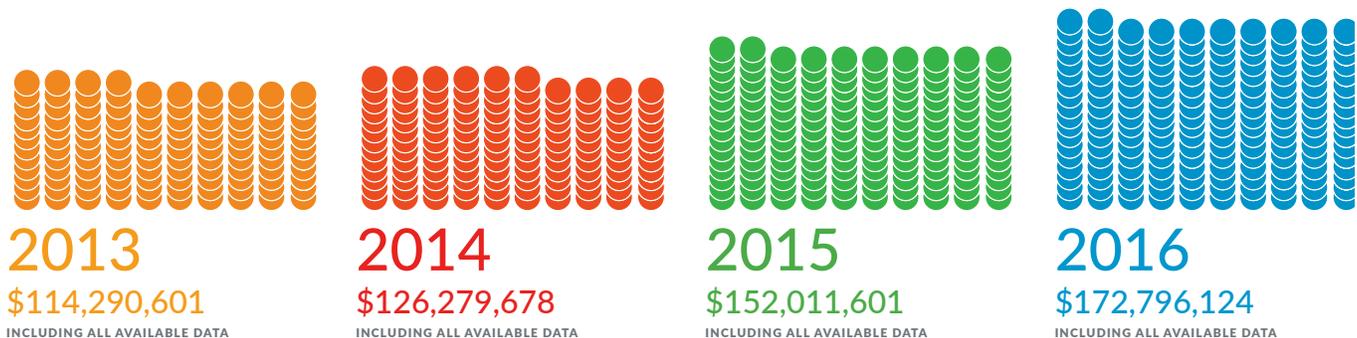

For the purposes of this report, the Global North is defined to encompass Canada, the United States, and Western Europe. The regions include most of the world's highest-income countries. They are home to 11 percent of the global population, but received 62 percent of LGBTI funding in this time period.

In 2016, a gunman attacked Pulse Nightclub, a gay nightclub in Orlando, Florida, on Latin night. The philanthropic response resulted in nearly $30 million in direct victim support. Without that funding, funding for LGBTI issues in the Global North would have declined in 2016.

NOTE: Anonymous donors awarded $32,955,000 during this period. If they appeared on the list above as a single funder, they would rank as the number one funder of LGBTI issues in the Global North.

NOTE: In contrast to other calculations in this report, all lists of top funders include re-granting, so as to capture the full amount of LGBTI funding flowing from (or through) each funder.

NOTE: While some donor governments submitted in-country grantmaking for this report, not all did so. If the Government of Germany's in-country grantmaking were excluded, they would not appear as a top funder of LGBTI issues in the Global North.

The top 10 grant recipients of LGBTI funding for the Global North received a total of $46.8 million, or 14 percent of the total. COC Netherlands was the only top grant recipient not located in the United States.

NOTE: Anonymous grant recipients in various locations received over 1,000 grants for a total of $52,957,135 over the two-year period of 2015-2016.

Sources of LGBTI Funding for the Global North

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, all funder categories increased their support for LGBTI issues the Global North. The most notable increase was among public foundations and intermediaries - which nearly doubled their grantmaking compared to the last reporting period. The sharp increase for public foundations and intermediaries is in part due to giving related to the Orlando tragedy. The tragedy also helps explain some of the increase in giving by corporate foundations.

Issues Addressed by LGBTI Funding for the Global North

Over the two-year period of 2015-2016, funding for LGBTI issues in the Global North increased across most issue areas with the largest increase in funding for Confronting Violence, Homophobia, Biphobia, and Transphobia. The $32.5 million increase was largely a result of the philanthropic response to the Pulse Nightclub Massacre in Orlando, Florida. (For more on this philanthropic response, see the 2016 Tracking Report: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer Grantmaking by US Foundations.)

Funding decreased for Education and Safe Schools, which experienced a $3.4 million decrease, and Strengthening Communities, Families, and Visibility, which witnessed a $200,000 decrease.

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

The Amsterdam Network

The Amsterdam Network is a coalition of primarily Global North LGBTI organizations that collaborate to influence their governments' integration of LGBTI rights in foreign policy and development assistance. Eight members of the Amsterdam Network who award grants as part of their advocacy efforts submitted data for this report. Collectively they awarded 351 grants or $22.7 million in funding for global LGBTI issues in 2015-2016. This figure includes $606,840 in funds awarded for the purposes of regranting.

Latin America and the Caribbean was the most funded region, receiving $7.8 million in funding from the Amsterdam Network in 2015-2016, followed closely by Sub-Saharan Africa, which received $7.2 million in the same period.

About Funders For LGBTQ Issues

MISSION

Funders for LGBTQ Issues works to increase the scale and impact of philanthropic resources aimed at enhancing the wellbeing of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer communities, promoting equity, and advancing racial, economic and gender justice.

WHAT WE DO

RESEARCH & COMMUNICATIONS

Funders for LGBTQ issues has a long history of reporting on LGBTQ grantmaking by both U.S. foundations and international institutions. We produce an annual tracking report and other special reports to monitor the character of LGBTQ funding in order to identify trends, gaps, and opportunities. Our reports on domestic and global LGBTQ funding are considered the field's most reliable and useful source of data on resource flows to LGBTQ communities. Many of our reports have been cited by academic journals, think tanks, non-governmental organizations, government agencies, newspapers, blogs, and other media.

OUTREACH & SUPPORT SERVICES

Funders for LGBTQ Issues conducts individualized outreach and engagement of funders not currently funding LGBTQ issues to demonstrate how LGBTQ issues intersect with a range of grantmaking priorities. We connect with allies in foundations not yet funding LGBTQ issues and work with them to build institutions that are more inclusive and responsive to LGBTQ communities.

WHO WE ARE

Funders for LGBTQ Issues is a network of more than 70 foundations, corporations, and funding institutions that collectively award more than $1 billion annually, including more than $100 million specifically devoted to LGBTQ issues.

CONVENING & COLLECTIVE ACTION

Funders for LGBTQ Issues regularly convenes grantmakers committed to LGBTQ issues so that they may connect with one another, learn from each other, coordinate their efforts, and maximize their impact. We host working groups and initiatives on specific topics to help funders shape funding strategies and leverage opportunities for new philanthropic partnerships. Through participation in other philanthropic conferences and partnerships with other funder networks, we also broaden our reach and ensure LGBTQ voices are present in vital funding conversations.

About Global Philanthropy Project (GPP)

MISSION

Global Philanthropy Project (GPP) is a collaboration of funders and philanthropic advisors working to expand global philanthropic support to advance the human rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) people in the Global South and East.

WHO WE ARE

Established in 2009, GPP's 18 member organizations include many of the leading global funders and philanthropic advisors for LGBTI rights. As the first and only international cohort of LGBTI funders, GPP is internationally recognized as the primary thought leader and go-to partner for donor coordination around global LGBTI work.

OUR GOALS

1. Cultivate and deepen the knowledge, skills and capacity of GPP members and other funders in support of global LGBTI issues.
2. Increase the amount and influence the type of private and public foundation funding dedicated to global LGBTI issues.
3. Increase the amount and influence the type of multilateral and bilateral aid and development funding dedicated to global LGBTI issues.
4. Increase the amount and influence the type of philanthropic giving from individual donors dedicated to global LGBTI issues.
5. Increase the amount and influence the type of philanthropic giving from corporations dedicated to global LGBTI issues.
6. Build a dynamic, responsive, and effective structure enabling the GPP network.
