

NGO Innovation Hub

---

Awareness, Cross-learning, and Collaboration

Objectives of NGO Innovation Hub (NIH)

---

- To raise sector's awareness for cross-learning and effective collaboration among NGOs
- To foster NGOs' innovation to address complex social needs, by adopting community development practices
- To enable NGOs to consolidate and disseminate the practice experience and positive impact through different channels

Content of NIH

---

- Delivered by HKCSS, with the strategic partner Department of Social Work, Hong Kong Baptist University
- Cover two batches of community partnership programmes (2021-2022 and 2022-2023)

Training Programmes for NGOs

---

- 10 Community Partnership Programme (CPP) grantees invited to join the NIH
- 3 advanced workshops for invited grantees to boost the knowledge of programme planning and implementation of community development practice before the project launch (from July 2021)

Professional Consultancy Service for NGOs

---

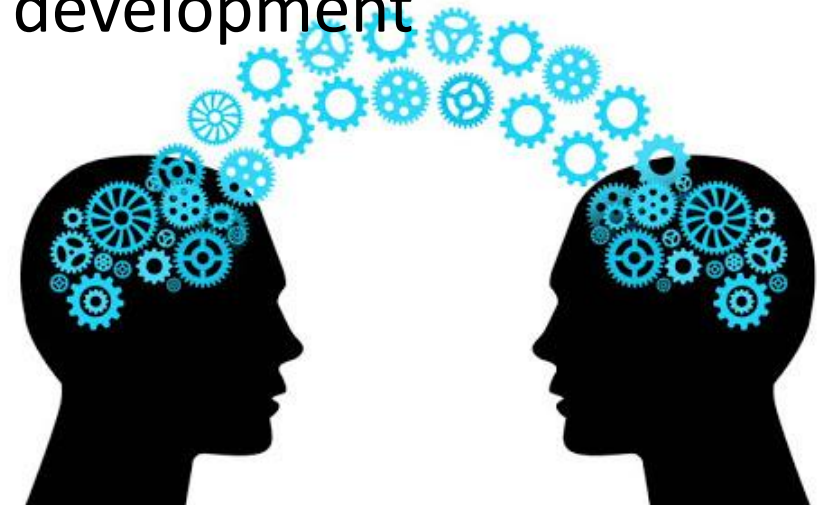

- Each invited CPP grantees will be assigned a service consultant to strengthen the project implementation
- 3 consultation sessions for each grantees will be arranged throughout the project implementation

Knowledge Sharing

---

- E-newsletters issued to consolidate practice insights from NGOs (10 case analyses)
- Conference organized to share practice wisdom on community development (tentative schedule: December 2022)
- Engaging international dialogue of community development practices, with the local practice insights

What will I take through NIH?

---

- Professional consultation service
- Co-learning opportunities
- Consolidation of service experience
- Service publicity opportunities

What will I need to give?

---

- Extra time and extra efforts
- Motivation to learn new things
- Openness to different community intervention practices
- Willingness to exchange your ideas and practice experience
- Commitment to service development for the sector

Workshops organized by HKBU

---

Thank You
& See You in
NIH