THE APPLICANT PROBLEM

THE JOB INTERVIEW IS THE MAIN COMPONENT IN ALL HIRING PROCESSES, HOWEVER ONLY LIMITED PREPARATION IS AVAILABLE

Applicants try to prepare by researching the web, reading about the company and position, and talking to friends however this is equivalent to preparing for a driving test by reading books on how to drive

THE ORGANIZATION PROBLEM

UNFULFILLED POTENTIAL

Organizations which benefit from applicant success don't hold the expertise nor the scale to successfully prepare their applicants for the professional interview phase leading to loss of revenues and unfulfilled potential
