

Multifamily Home Builder Rebates:

IT'S EASY TO EARN MORE WITH THE HOMESPHERE REBATE PROGRAM

There are lots of reasons to earn rebates on the building products you use. There are also a lot of pervasive myths that impact why builders don't.

So, let's talk about it.

Myth 1: "I don't have time."

Fact: That's where we come in for free — so you don't need to put in large amounts of time.

With the HomeSphere Rebate Program we take care of the nitty gritty and negotiate on your behalf — from the size of the rebate you'll earn to what products are eligible. And what's more, we like to do it.

We won't lie and say there's zero work, but... once it's in our hands, we only need minimal info from you to manage your rebates.

Myth 2: "My brand usage isn't eligible for rebates in most of these programs."

Fact: The HomeSphere Rebate Program includes 80+ leading brands including:

We've also got a 1,500-strong rebate catalog so you can earn money back on the brands you already know, trust and spec.

Not using our brands? Our in-market specialists will make all the right intros to easily help you switch.

Myth 3: "It doesn't seem worth the time and effort."

Fact: With the HomeSphere Rebate Program, our builders earn millions in rebates collectively each year — because at more than 2,600-strong, they've got the purchasing power of the largest national builders.

And they've also got the power of the bundle.

Got any other reasons not to earn rebates? We want to hear it.

How it Works:

We don't take a flat processing percentage from each rebate you claim. Instead our rebate processing costs decrease as the number of eligible products you claim per closing increases. You're our partner, so we share these efficiencies with you — and that means that even adding a small product to your bundle can have a significant impact on your total earnings.

And you receive it all in one check on a schedule that makes sense for you and your business.
