Editorial

Dear Reader,

Welcome to our first issue! We're excited to launch this monthly newsletter, which will inform and hopefully inspire on ways through which we can mobilise financing to achieve a just, green, and secure energy future.

Why am I getting this? You have received this email because you completed the newsletter subscription form, or you are a member of the Investors Dialogue on Energy Working Groups. If you want to unsubscribe (but we hope you don't!), simply click on the "Unsubscribe" link in the footer below. You can do this at any time.

So... what's this all about? Every month, we will update you on developments related to the Investors Dialogue on Energy. You will have access to summary reports of the working group discussions, key insights, market and policy intelligence as well as identified opportunities. We will also inform you about related events and activities, which might be of interest for you.

What's the big issue for this month? 100 experts have been selected and confirmed as members of the Investors Dialogue Working Groups. Each Working Group now has around 20 members, representing the community of interests across the finance and energy sectors in all EU countries. The first Working Group meetings were conducted in June-July. We discussed barriers to investment in the energy sector across the five key segments of the energy value chain: (1) energy production, (2) transmission and distribution, (3) storage, (4) heating and cooling and (5) services and prosumers. Scroll down to read the main discussion points!

Interested in our calendar? Scroll down to view our upcoming events. We'll be updating this regularly with dates of the Working Group Meetings, along with planned community events.

If you have a highly relevant use case, project or story to tell, contact us to be featured in a subsequent newsletter issue. You can always reach us by email lu_investors_dialogue@pwc.com.

Coming up next... The second set of Working Group Meetings is underway, on the hot topic of financing models for the energy value chain, what is needed and what is critical given the current context. More on this in the next edition!

We hope this gives you a good starting point. We look forward to embarking on a journey with you towards a better new normal. Enjoy the first issue and speak to you soon!

Yours truly,

The Editor

Highlights

Feedback on inaugural meetings

All Working Groups met for the first time between June and July. Meetings were held under a hybrid format, in Brussels and online. Participants discussed the barriers to investments in their respective segment of the energy value chain. In addition, the European Commission presented its RePowerEU plan to phase out Russian fuels by 2030. The confluence between rapid geopolitical, economic and climate developments has underscored both the need and opportunities to build up a robust investment ecosystem that would accelerate our 2030 targets. Have a look at the discussions of the 1st set of WG meetings!
