STILL LIFE

Autumn / Winter 2026

OUR HISTORY

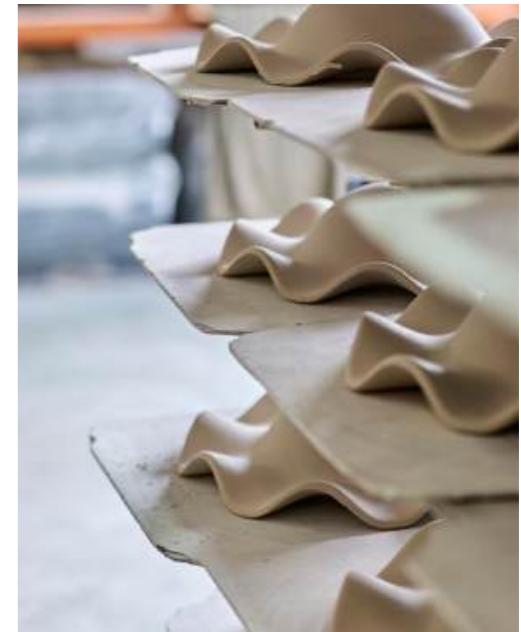

A home rooted in creative history.

The Autumn / Winter 2026 photoshoot for the Still Life collection, returns to the place where Robert Gordon Pottery first took shape: the Pack Track Pottery. More than a backdrop, this home is the birthplace of a generations-long creative journey. Every wall, window, and weathered surface carries the imprint of decades spent shaping clay, experimenting with form, and nurturing ideas that would come to define the brand.

A glimpse inside the studio that was originally the 'Pack Track Pottery'.

Our family have been immersed in the world of pottery for 80 years. Creating with clay since 1945, we are a family business fired by passion, knowledge, and imagination. We craft pottery with a uniquely Australian spirit to be loved and enjoyed for years to come.

In 1945, June Dyson began her pottery with husband Colin Gordon. Called Dyson Studios, the pottery studio was set up in the bayside suburb of Black Rock, Victoria. June was somewhat of a renegade in the industry. She came from a hugely creative family and was encouraged to pursue the arts from a very early age. It took tenacity and drive to run a pottery that provided for her family, Colin and June managed this until they both retired in the late 1980's. June and Colin went on to provide for six children.

The year 1978 saw their youngest son, Robert 'Andy' Gordon break away from the family pottery business and begin his own dream with his English wife Barbara. They set up a small pottery business in a tin shed on the property in Gembrook and called it the Pack Track Pottery. By the 1980's, The Pack Track was Gembrook's largest local employer, selling wares all over the country.

It had finally outgrown its space and the pottery was moved from the small township to a large purpose built headquarters in Pakenham. By the 1990's the pottery had developed into a large production pottery, employing over 35 staff. From supplying wares to Sunday tourists at the St Kilda markets, to providing some of the world's most reputable retailers and restaurants with quality ceramics, those early years spent as a studio pottery means we still place enormous importance on the craft.

In the late 1990's, Barbara and Andy's children Hannah, Kate and Sam joined the pottery. Ten years later, eldest son Bobby came on board. In order to keep up with the times and demand, Robert Gordon not only became a manufacturer of bespoke Australian Made pottery, but an importer too, designs dreamed up at our Pakenham HQ are sent off-shore to be made into the collections we are so proud of.

An interpretation of still life, functional pieces composed with intention and calm. Everyday objects treated as studies in form and balance.

We're expanding our Garden to Table collection with a considered range of new shapes, including a ceramic oil dispenser with a stainless steel cap, offering a refined approach to pouring and storing oils or vinegars. A set of two egg cups, along with a ceramic compost bin and garlic holder, are shaped to sit comfortably on the bench, encouraging daily use without visual clutter.

A TIME TO PAUSE

As winter settles in, days slow and life moves indoors. It's a time to gather, to pause and consider the pieces that shape our space. The objects around us begin to matter more.

The new travel cups in the Cat's Pyjamas collection are perfect for morning commutes and weekend adventures. The functional, lidless shape makes them easy to clean, while a silicone band provides a comfortable grip.

June's Daisy is a gentle continuation of the June's Garden collection, inspired by the flower garden of June Dyson in Gembrook—the same home that would later become the Pack Track Pottery. This collection celebrates the heritage of Robert Gordon, featuring etched floral forms, radiating lines, and petal shapes that feel both spontaneous and considered.
