Our story.

Over forty years ago, Robert Gordon walked into a ten by eight-foot tin shed, picked up a lump of clay and turned his potter's wheel. The Pack Track Pottery was born. But the story and inspiration for Robert Gordon Pottery date long before 1979 and a rickety homemade studio.

Robert's mother, the renowned Australian potter June Dyson, set up her studios in 1945. June formed a formidable partnership with her husband Colin, who became the company's business director.

June's second son Robert showed the most interest in the pottery, helping out in the studios from his early twenties. It was inevitable that Robert would one day follow in his mother's footsteps. And having married his English wife

Barbara, the couple set about moulding their dream. By 1987 it was time for the company to expand. A studio in Pakenham was bought and Robert Gordon had grown from a tin shed with a dirt floor to a large purpose built headquarters. What was once known as The Pack Track Pottery has now developed into Australia's largest production pottery, employing over 45 staff.

From supplying wares to Sunday tourists at the St Kilda markets to providing some of the world's most reputable retailers and restaurants with quality ceramics, those early years spent as a small studio pottery means we still place enormous importance on the craft.

A love of pottery has been handed down from June Dyson to Robert and his children. The family has been immersed in the world of ceramics for over 75 years. This is a story unlike any other pottery in Australia.
