Bio

The number of entrepreneurs is increasing. COVID brought the awareness that we have more options than ever before. The internet has opened doors that entrepreneurs never knew existed. Facing an empty nest was my pivot point. I was fortunate to be part of a mastermind for entrepreneurs that was truly a gift. I knew I couldn't miss my opportunity to find the abundance I had hoped to manifest.

Our group met in person for two hours every week for six months. COVID ended the six months abruptly. Even though there wasn't closure, the goals I set for myself became reality. I created my first webinar, I became a published author, and I am facilitating my second mastermind group.

I share tips and strategies to help you with your online business using automation and duplication. My marketing business has a focus on developing strong relationships and my clients are entrepreneurs who want to stand out from their competitors and manage their reputations and legacies.
